

A Collection Of Short Cinematic Film Reviews

Contributed by ChadRodriquez
Thursday, 08 October 2009

The following paragraphs contain some nice movie reviews. If you are looking for a movie download site here are some phrases to search. You should try two or three searches, with terms like, "Movie Downloading Sites", "Download Movie Rental", and "DVD Movies Online".

by ChadRodriquez

The following paragraphs contain some nice movie reviews. If you are looking for a movie download site here are some phrases to search. You should try two or three searches, with terms like, "Movie Downloading Sites", "Download Movie Rental", and "DVD Movies Online".

Bullet for a Badman: Another reprisal story engaging an outlaw, his ex-spouse, and the man who married her. Cast includes Audie Murphy, Darren McGavin, Ruta Lee, Bypass Homeier, George Tobias, and Bob Steele. (80 minutes, 1964)

Shack Out on 101: Lee Marvin is a cook named Slob at a seaside greasy spoon in this cold war classic. The waitress (Terry Moore) seems to be spending most of her time fending off the lecherous advances of almost all her co-stars, but in fact she is trying to stop nuclear secrets from leaving the country. This is positively a one of a kind film, with most of the action taking place on a lone shabby set. Cast includes Terry Moore, Frank Lovejoy, Lee Marvin, Keenan Wynn, and Whit Bissell. (90 minutes, 1955)

The Big Trees: Viciously ambitious lumberman Douglas runs afoul of a religious sect and nearly everybody else around him in this cornball outdoor melodrama. Cast includes Kirk Douglas, Eve Miller, Patrice Wymore, Edgar Buchanan, John Archer, Alan Hale, Jr., Roy Roberts, and Ellen Corby. (89 minutes, 1952)

Gun the Man Down: Injured outlaw avows retribution on cohorts who left him in the middle of a stickup gone badly. Cast includes James Arness, Angie Dickinson, Robert Wilke, and Emile Meyer. (78 minutes, 1956)

The Reckless Moment: Mason blackmails protective mom Bennett, whose adolescent baby girl has been engaged in a guy's mortality. Noirish melodrama is additionally a slyly subversive peek at a "common" American family. Cast includes James Mason, Joan Bennett, Geraldine Brooks, Henry O'Neill, and Shepperd Strudwick. (82 minutes, 1949)

AI Artificial Intelligence: In the near future, scientist Hurt and his team create a highly advanced android kid who might experience feelings, containing love. His adoption by a nice couple who have lost a child is riddled with complications. This enthralling tale draws us in, thanks in part to Osment's magnificent performance. Cast includes Haley Joel Osment, Jude Ordinance, Frances O'Connor, Brendan Gleeson, Sam Robards, William Hurt, Jake Thomas, Ken Leung, Michael Mantell, and Adrian Grenier. (145 minutes, 2001)

The Slave: Interminable Italian spectacle. Child of Spartacus comprehends tale of his dad and promises retribution. The excellent photography is the only positive holding. Cast includes Steve Reeves, Jacques Semas, Gianna Maria Canale, and Claudio Gora. (102 minutes, 1963)

The Big Road: This movie is about a shy busboy who commits himself to a selfish nightclub singer. The film is abnormal (and oddly watchable), with extremely unorthodox roles for both Fonda and Ball. Cast includes Henry Fonda, Lucille Ball,

Barton Mafamilye, Eugene Palette, Agnes Moorehead, Sam Levene, Ray Collins, Hans Conried, and Ozzie Nelson. (88 minutes, 1942)

Akira Kurosawa's Dreams: 8 vignettes-progressively apocalyptic "dreamt" by an 80-year-old man widely considered as the best living filmmaker of the times. Cast includes Akira Kurosawa. Akira Terao, Mitsuko Baisho, Mieko Harada, Chishu Ryu, Milsunori Isaki, Toshihiko Nakano, Y oshitaka Zushi, and Toshie Negishi. (120 minutes, 1990)

Remember, nearly any film you can think of can be downloaded off the web these days. You should make some queries with search terms like "Full Movie Downloads" or "New Movie Rental" to find more info on downloading movies. If those fail you try "Downloadable Movie Sites".

About the Author:

To watch movies online, or even on your TV, yes your TV. Lisa Dergan Movies Enroll in an online movie rental club today and never get a partial download issue again. Many sites that offer free movies are not as copasetic as one would hope.