

Instrumental Music 2.0 (Fascinating and Beautiful Sounds)

Contributed by PabloPerez
Friday, 08 January 2010

The following words should be received as a testimony, not as doctrine or law. God is creative and does with each person as He desires. You will not find Instrumental Music 2.0 trying to imitate a particular experience, but rather by encountering the Fountain... God.
by PabloPerez

The following words should be received as a testimony, not as doctrine or law. God is creative and does with each person as He desires. You will not find Instrumental Music 2.0 trying to imitate a particular experience, but rather by encountering the Fountain... God.

THE GATEWAY TO THE SUPERNATURAL

There is a door that separates the natural realm from the realm of the Spirit. This door was very real for the apostle John (Rev. 4:1-2). He looked and saw an open door in the heavens, and a voice said unto him, "come up here". Like if God was saying, "Down there you are not going to be able to see anything, you need to come up here; you have to pass through the door and enter into My world."

John, prior to this experience heard Jesus say, 'I am the door...' (Jn. 10:9), but now, he was finally beginning to understand the magnitude of what the Master had said.

When John passed through the door, he left the world of reason and entered the world of the Spirit... He left the natural in order to enter the supernatural. In the twinkling of an eye, John found himself before the throne of God and beheld the worship of heaven. Was this experience just for John? Of course not...

EXPERIENCING THE POWER OF INSTRUMENTAL MUSIC 2.0

It is not easy to describe it, but while I am ministering to the Lord with the piano (during a corporate worship service or in my personal devotions), there are moments in which He opens a door in the realm of the Spirit and invites me to come up.

Upon passing through the door... it is no longer I following Him, but rather He carries me. The harmony and the melody begin to flow with an indescribable freshness, difficult to express.

It is like a powerful river of which I am in the middle and its current takes me wherever it wants. It is like extending my wings and flying impulsively on the wind without limits or pressure, in perfect liberty.

SOARING IN THE HOLY SPIRIT LIKE AN EAGLE

The Scriptures declare: "Those who wait upon the Lord will rise up wings like eagles."(Is.40:31). The eagle extends its wings and surrenders itself to the power of the wind, at high levels, where the air currents are very strong. She moves its wings to reach the level of the current, but when it gets there, it extends its wings and allows the wind to propel it along.

In this way, the eagle arrives to heights that could not be reached otherwise. Something similar happens in the realm of the Spirit...

I can extend my wings and surrender myself to the wind of the Holy Spirit without any effort because it is He who moves me. In doing so... the harmony reaches new heights and then descends majestically. After descending, many times the music will begin to intensify (in crescendo) again, gaining more strength and power in proportion to the increase of the Spirit.

It is as if the Lord (above all, in services of corporate worship) wraps up all those present in His wings, lifting them to new heights of the glory of God. This instrumental music becomes inexpressible, powerful, majestic, and glorious.

At other times, it is as if the Cloud rests upon a chord, giving it sharpness and depth and bringing a holy silence to the place. Then He begins to descend like sweet dew, full of the presence of God. (Ps. 133:3). The music flows and tenderizes the hearts of the people, preparing the ground so that the seed of life will fall on good earth. As the book of Numbers declares: 'And when the dew fell on the camp in the night, the manna fell on it' (Num. 11:9). When the dew of His presence drenches the human heart, then it is ready to receive divine nourishment- the Word of God.

This powerful heavenly music finds different expressions through every prophetic musician. What I've shared it's just the testimony of my own experience-which is just a drop in a big ocean...

It takes all of us to express the fullness and richness of this sound from heaven.

About the Author:

Pablo Perez - Producer of several instrumental recordings. NOW YOU CAN Listen and Experience Instrumental Music 2.0 by watching INSTRUMENTAL MUSIC TV